

Design choice and changes: From low fidelity to high fidelity, the biggest change resulted from a heuristic evaluation. There is actually no way to edit a product once you get to the shopping cart – nor is there any opportunity to remove an item. This severely violates the user control and freedom heuristic. Otherwise, I kept the side-bar and the categories because those are all important aspects of a cinnamon roll at Bun Bun Bake Shop.